Adapts to your changing needs

Every SupplySystem is individually configured to meet your inventory control requirements, maximising efficiency and eliminating wasted space. The advanced adaptive system allows Tooling Intelligence to deliver a customised solution for the most diverse range of products and assets.

Levels of Control

- Absolute Level Control - This is the highest level of control. Each locked location contains one single product. No single item leaves the SupplySystem unaccounted for.
- Product Level Control - Each locked location contains multiple quantities of the same product. Users are prompted to take a set quantity, or may enter the quantity required at the point of use.
- Compartment Level Control - Each locked location contains multiple quantities of more than one product. Ideal for low value items, or items that are used together in a product kit.

As the demands of your supply chain change over time, SupplySystem can adapt to meet every requirement. The unique modular design of the SupplySystem is fully reconfigurable - each module can be moved or exchanged quickly and easily, with minimal downtime and limited technical involvement.
